OUTLINE OF 100-YEAR VISION SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM 2016

Goal:

The 100-Year Vision is sponsored and implemented by Ashinaga. The project selects one orphaned student from 49 Sub-Saharan African countries every year to receive higher education outside of Africa, in countries such as Japan, US, UK etc. It aims to nurture future leaders who will contribute to the development of their own countries upon their return, not long after completion of their study program abroad.

Application:

Students are required to complete an application and submit copies of all academic and identity documents. Choosing language of studies is very important; French and Portuguese speaking students can also apply to study in English, but please be aware the subsequent selection will be conducted in the language students have indicated they want to study in. These students must therefore be able to communicate well in English if they wish to succeed.

1st Selection (Document Screening):

Ashinaga screens the applications and selects five students from each country to interview in person. The result will be communicated to you by email before the end of March, 2016.

2nd Selection (Writing exam and Interview):

Ashinaga conducts individual interviews with the five students from each country to better understand their academic goals, need for the scholarship and hopes for the future of Africa. Students must also complete an exam (Language, Critical reading and Math) to demonstrate their academic level. Exams and interviews will be in the language students chose to study in (English, French or Portuguese). Students will be asked desired subject choice (major) and country of studies at this stage. Students must bring all original academic documents and identity documents to the interview. Failure to do so may result in dismissal.

Candidate Selection:

Ashinaga selects one student per country to become the candidate to join the preparation study camp in Uganda (English/Portuguese) or Senegal (French). Successful students will receive an acceptance form in early May. Once students have submitted the signed acceptance form, Ashinaga will assist these students to attend the study camps.

1st Camp (“Study Camp”) in Uganda / Senegal:

During the Study Camp, students are assisted in their application to university and academic preparation. There are two study camps; the Uganda Study Camp (for students who wish to continue their higher education in English and Portuguese) is in Nansana, Uganda and runs from early July to Mid-December. The Senegal Study Camp (for students who wish to continue their higher education in French) is in Dakar, Senegal and runs from early July to early December. All the costs during the camp including flights, food, accommodation and university applications will be covered by Ashinaga. The Study Camp is run by Ashinaga staff members. These staff members work with the students to explore career opportunities, possible majors, and potential universities. They also teach classes which are customized according to the students’ needs in order to be properly prepared for study at the university level. They will also conduct classes relating to Global Awareness, computer skills, and communication skills. Additional programs may include volunteering opportunities, guest speakers and workshops, and – depending on university admission requirements – preparation for standardized entrance exams which they will take while attending the Study Camp.

2nd Camp (“Reunion Camp”) in Uganda:

During the Reunion Camp, students meet again to prepare themselves for the social, cultural, and academic differences they will discover when moving abroad. The camp is held in Nansana, Uganda from mid-May to July, depending on Visa application to the country of study. New students are able to see the previous year group of 100 YV scholars at the camp.

100-Year Vision Scholarship:<Coverage>

The 100-Year Vision Scholarship provides a full scholarship that covers the cost of tuition, accommodation (during the terms and vacation), insurance, flight, and provides monthly stipend which covers food and necessary academic costs. The scholarship covers the first possible diploma that can be earned in the student’s study of choice. The costs of a foundation or preparatory course will also be covered if required by the student to be admitted or properly prepared for their degree program, or academic qualifications in students’ country are not recognized in the potential country of study. The scholarship does not cover a second degree or Master’s degree unless it is the first possible diploma that can be obtained in the student’s subject of choice. Ashinaga does not provide students with flights home during the course of their studies.

Important Note:<Becoming a scholar>

Students will only officially become the recipients of the “100-Year Vision Scholarship” after receiving admission from university and a visa from the potential country of study. Please know that joining the study camp does NOT guarantee the scholarship. University admission and visa application are the student’s own responsibility, but Ashinaga will do its best to support students in both.

<Choosing a major>

Students are required to select initial choice at the time of 2nd selection, and final decision will be made during the course of study camp through consultation with Ashinaga. Students are encouraged to select a major based on their strengths in high school as well as their future career goals but also with the goal of “giving back” to their home country. Students are advised that they should not choose a major that will lead to a career that does not interest them personally. Ashinaga will provide support and counseling to assist students in finding ways to give back to their country or community. Those who want to study medicine and engineering, please know Ashinaga requires students to have top scores in Math and Science related subjects at GCSE/ Baccalaureate.

※ Ashinaga takes students’ goals and preferences into consideration, but withholds the right to make the final decision with regards to selection of major.

<Choosing a country>

Students are required to select initial choice at the time of 2nd selection, and final decision will be made during the course of study camp through consultation with Ashinaga. Successful students will be sent to either the Study Camp in Uganda or Senegal based on their application and confirmation of the language they will study in. Ashinaga hopes to send students to universities across the world, and students will not go to the same country. Ashinaga will work with students to determine which countries are appropriate for their intended major as well as the likelihood they will be accepted based on their high school diploma and exams. ※ Ashinaga takes students’ goals and preferences into consideration, but withholds the right to make the final decision with regards to selection of country.
